

N. Y. SOCIETY IS TAKING TEA WITH GHOSTS

Interior of the ghostly tea-house with artist's conception of ghostly revolutionary-time beaux and belles hovering over the teacups.

By J. H. DUCKWORTH
 RIDGEWOOD, N. J., June 14.—The ghost of a murdered Hessian soldier whose phantom body can be heard falling on the worm-eaten rafters of a hat-haunted attic is the latest novelty offered to attract motorists to a way-side tea-house.

This spectre-haunted place is the picturesque Rosencrantz homestead at Tohokus, N. J., on the old Albany turnpike, scene of Aaron Burr's romantic wooing of Madame Provost in 1777. It has been opened as a tea-house by the Misses Rosencrantz of civil war fame. Taking tea with the ghost here is now a popular pastime with wealthy automobilists from New York.

"The story is," said Miss M. E. Rosencrantz, "that at the time the Hessian troops were encamped at Paramis, a mile from here, a Hessian soldier was murdered upstairs for his bag of gold. A well stuffed money belt, at any rate, was found hidden in the wall of the attic during the lifetime of the late Col. W. D. Rosencrantz, cousin of the civil war general.

"The Hessian's ghost has haunted the house ever since, according to tradition. We often hear at night a queer sound in the attic as though a dead body had fallen on the floor."

"We have rushed upstairs to discover what made the noise, but never had our curiosity satisfied. Not even have we found the dust disturbed.

"It is all very uncanny, but we are used to it. We cannot, however, get friends to pass the night with us."

Students of historic buildings are as much interested in the place as are the delvers into psychic phenomena.

Here Aaron Burr met, wooed, won the fair Mme. Provost. The young soldier was in camp at White Plains 25 miles away. He used to ride over to Tarrytown on horseback, take the ferry across the Hudson to Nyack, and ride on to Tohokus, getting back to his regiment just before daybreak.

It was during these momentous times that the Hessian soldier met his untimely end and bequeathed his restless spirit to send cold chills up and down the backs of hot and dusty automobilists.

The service, were delightfully rendered by Mrs. Oliver A. Wood, accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Black. At the conclusion of the program Mrs. H. G. Stoetzer rendered two songs, "Our Flag" the official D. A. R. song, and "Plains of Peace" with Miss Blanche Barris at the piano.

The annual election of officers was also held yesterday resulting as follows:

Regent, Mrs. W. H. Conaway; vice regent, Mrs. Jos. Lehman; secretary, Mrs. Samuel Brady, re-elected; treasurer, Mrs. W. T. Black; Historian, Mrs. G. M. Alexander; registrar, Mrs. George DeBolt, re-elected; secretary for D. A. R. Magazine, Miss Caroline Barris; members of executive board, Mesdames E. F. Hartley, H. G. Stoetzer, Hugh F. Smith and E. C. Frame.

The meeting yesterday closed the program of the chapter for the official year.

Your Daughter's Accomplishments Have You Thought of Them?

Will your daughter's music be a joy to listen to—full of beauty and feeling? Or will it be poor and indifferent—the kind that no one wants to hear?

That Depends on You

If you give her a faulty-toned piano, you will eventually ruin her ear for music. But if you choose a pure-toned instrument, she will have a correct musical taste as long as she lives.

Select Your Piano from the World's Best Makes

Steinway, Knabe, Hardman, Krakauer, Ludwig and Matchless Milton.

These makes cost but little more than ordinary pianos and you are assured of lifetime service and satisfaction.

We can arrange terms to suit you.
